MIKE GREEN

Mike Green is thrilled that you have navigated to his page, and hopes it wasn't the result of clicking the wrong link after google searching Mike Green the NHL player. Mike Green the comedian has told jokes for years on stages all across the country, and is in all likelihood even more satisfied with his life than Mike Green the NHL player. Mike Green is most proud of the work he's done touring the last few years with the Raise the Woof fundraisers shows which benefit animal shelters all across Canada. This Mike Green has been building a reputation for the past six years by working with some of the top comedic acts in North America and freelance work with the CBC. He's always eager to get onstage at any type of show, from the weekly open mic he's run for the past six years, hosting at the inaugural ODDBLOCK Comedy Block Party, to the Winnipeg Comedy Festival, for which he's also been picked five years consecutively. Also, he's as handsome as he is brave.

ANDY NOBLE

Over the last six years, Andy has been making a name for himself with his not too dirty, not too clean, but always honest, style of comedy. On any given night Andy can be seen performing all over Winnipeg and touring across Canada. He has made multiple appearances at the Winnipeg Comedy Festival as well as the Oddblock festival. In 2015, Andy won the "Winnipeg's funniest person with a day job" contest at Rumors Comedy Club, where he is now a regular host and headliner. In addition to stand-up, Andy was also a writer/actor for Shaw TV's late night comedy show The Week Thus Far. With jokes on a wide range of topics and a laid back style Andy is sure to entertain crowds of all kinds.
